As They Do In Denmark.

In Denmark the bread is home baked. The women spin woolen yarn which the village weaver makes into cloth or which they knit into stockings. The women make their own dresses. Often they make clothes for their husbands and sons. The men make wooden shoes for the family and house furniture and farming implements. And the efficient Danes set Europe an example of intensive farming.—Atlanta Journal.

Rather Cynical.

"What, father?"

"If ever you should attain it you would become most uninteresting."—Detroit Free Press.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

As we go to press the indications are that Woodrow Wilson has been reelected president of the United States by a close margin in the electorial college. His vote is 272, a majority of just 6 votes, 266 votes being necessary for a choice. The eastern states declared for Hughes while the Middle West and western states voted for Wilson. This upset all political calculations as the West was supposed to be certain for Mr. Hughes. California, which before election was conceded to the Republican party, declared for the president by a slight majority of 3000 votes. The Golden State practically decided the contest. It is the belief of the wiseacres that the passage of the eight-hour law, known as the Adamson bill by the last Congress, was the chief cause of the state going for Wilson as the labor vote almost went solid for him. However, be that as it may, the election is over. The people have spoken. We all bow to the will of the majority. As patriotic Americans we ask all citizens no matter whether Republicans or Democrats to give their aid and assistance in making the new administration of President Wilson a prosperous and successful one. There should be no rancor. The contest was fairly fought and the choice of the people has been registered.

SAN MATEO COUNTY AT THE POLLS

Showing Just How the People of All the Towns Voted at Great Presidential

Much interest was centered on the election on Tuesday in this county. This was demonstrated by the large vote that was polled. Over eighty per cent of the registered vote was cast. Hughes carried the county by 726 votes. Governor Johnson defeated Patton by 5778 votes, Hayes beat Walker by 5513 votes and Eskward defeated Willard by 650. The big surprise of the election was the defeat of James Casey by Thomas Hickey by 114 votes. John MacBain defeated P. H. McEvoy by 1400 votes Joseph Francis had no opposition for the office of supervisor of the fourth township. The election of Hickey makes the board Republican. NOTED WINNERS

It is our great pleasure this week to present as United States Senator-elect the Hon. Hiram W. Johnson, and as United States Congressman-eleca the Hon. E. A. Hayes, both of California. In such matter words are inadequate and therefore superfluous. Suffice it to say here are two time-tried men who have proved their great worth and of whom the nation may well be proud.

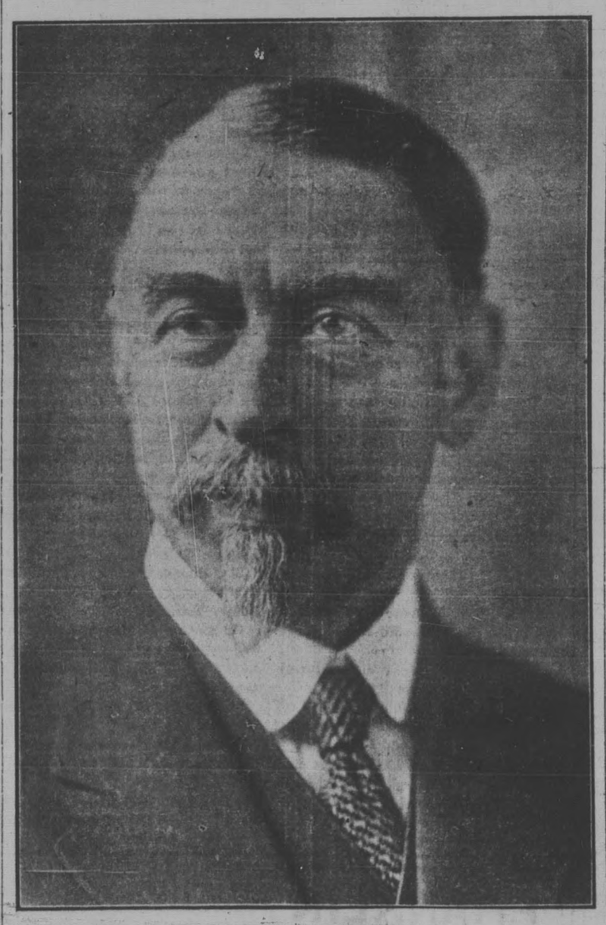
HIRAM W. JOHNSON



UNITED STATES CONGRESSMAN
E. A. HAYES (Re-Elected)

Rough Wooing.

Courtship and marriage customs among the Greenlanders were in early times simple and unceremonious. We are told that when a lovelorn youth made up his mind as to the girl he wanted to adorn and be useful in his hut of ice and snow he went to her house, seized her by the hair or wherever he could secure a good grip on her and dragged her to his own domain, where she was expected to stay without any further marriage ceremony. If an affluent bridegroom he would perhaps soothe her lacerated feelings by presenting her with a new lamp.

Bits of Swedish History.

Gustave III. of Sweden was assassinated at a masked ball; hence the opera "Un Ballo In Maschera," although Verdi was obliged to change the name of the ruler and the scene of tragedy from those in Schibe's libretto which served for his opera.

A queen dowager of Sweden died of apoplexy while witnessing a play entitled "Life Is But Smoke." She was a Frenchwoman named Clary. Bernadotte married her when she was seventeen years old and he was twice her age. Joseph Bonaparte had married her younger sister.

All Bands Alike to Her.

A little girl was greatly interested in watching the men in her father's orchard putting bands of tar round the fruit trees to prevent ground insects from crawling up and asked a great many questions. Some weeks later, when out with her mother, she noticed a gentleman with a mourning band round his left sleeve.

"Mother," she said, "what's to keep them from crawling up his other arm?"
—London Globe.

Weather Variety.

Some growl perpetually at the weather; it is too hot or too cold; too wet or too dry. And yet a kind Providence arranges it infinitely better than we could. What a beautiful promise this was in the early history of the race: "While the earth remaineth, seed time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."—Christian Herald.

Looking Ahead.

"I think I had better get a job before we marry."

"Don't be so unromantic, Freddy. I won't need any clothes for a long, long time."

"But you may want to eat almost any time, my dear."—Pittsburgh Post.

The company erected the new courthouse building in this city and during the period of construction Mr. Nealon became quite well known here. His many friends are pleased to learn of his success.

SAN MATEO COUNTY FISH AND GAME

Valuable Contribution to Study of Fish, Animal and Bird Life in California

J. S. Hunter, state game warden, has written the following splendid article on the game and fish of San Mateo county for the issue of the State Game and Fish Commission's Bulletin that appeared last week:

Although all parts of San Mateo county are within thirty-five miles of San Francisco and but a few hours' ride by auto, there are few sections of the state better supplied with game and fish. A few years ago much better hunting was here available, but the coast region of San Mateo county still has much to offer.

Deer are plentiful in San Mateo county, owing largely to the great tracts of land upon which hunting is limited or entirely prohibited. On the Spring Valley land, comprising 30,000 acres, upon which hunting is exceedingly limited, and in the California Redwood Park, just across the south line of the county, where no hunting is allowed, deer breed undisturbed and increase rapidly. It is not unusual to see as many as a dozen deer in driving through the Spring Valley lands. When this protected area becomes crowded with deer, the overflow spreads into the adjoining parts of the county where hunting is allowed. The protection thus afforded has made it possible to kill an average of 150 deer each year during several seasons past. Deer find the San Mateo hills particularly attractive and the cover is so thick that hunters are at considerable odds unless assisted by packs of well trained dogs.

The grizzly bear was once a common resident of the San Mateo peninsula. It is said that these bears were larger than the famous Kadiak Island grizzlies, supposedly the largest in the world. Many interesting tales are told of the raids of the grizzly on the San Mateo ranches in the early days. It is probable that the last grizzly was killed in the early seventies. Black bears were also resident, and the last one is reported to have been killed in the central part of the county in the early nineties. Enos Ralston of San Gregorio whose family settled on Corte Madera Creek in the late fifties, tells of a grizzly which he and his small brothers and sisters surprised while they were gathering berries. The bear was on one side of a great redwood log and the children on the other. When the children climbed the log they saw the bear directly below. It is doubtful whether the children or the bear was the more frightened.

The valley quail is the prize game bird of San Mateo county. Excellent quail shooting may be had in many parts of the county, and there is promise of improvement because of the recent shortening of the season and reduction of bag limit. Quail have, however, become particularly wary in this district, and it is now difficult to secure a limit, in spite of the abundance of birds. When a few shots are fired the gun-wise birds take to the high brush, and here it is impossible to find them. Mountain quail were found in fair numbers in the higher elevations some years ago, but it is doubtful whether one could be found in the county today.

San Mateo has long been famous for its splendid rabbit shooting. Both cottontail and brush rabbits are found, but brush rabbits are by far the more numerous. Excellent cover is afforded these animals by the brush-covered hills on the coast-side of the county, and with reasonable protection, the rabbit will long afford a source of enjoyment to the man who enjoys getting out with gun and dog. Hundreds of rabbit hunters are in the field continually during the rabbit season. San Mateo was perhaps the first county to give the rabbit the protection of a close season. The law was found so beneficial that a similar one was later passed by the state.

The gray tree squirrel is no longer considered game in San Mateo county although it is found more or less commonly throughout the wooded parts and even within the incorporated limits of the cities along the bay shore.

Marsh shooting has not improved during recent years. The salt ponds on the bay shore formerly afforded excellent duck shooting, but in recent years ducks have become noticeably scarce. In the morning and evening during the fall there is still an excellent flight of ducks between the Spring Valley lakes and the bay, and it is difficult to get more than a few birds. Better bags of ducks are secured by hunters skilled in the use of the skulling oar, but this sort of hunting is rather hard work for the average person and is not commonly resorted to.

Rail shooting was formerly one of the sports of the county, but so much land has been reclaimed during the past few years that rail have been greatly reduced and it has become necessary to close season on them. It is probable that in a few years these birds will have increased to such an extent that a short open season can be declared. The clapper rail is one of the best of table birds and is preferred by many to any other variety of game.

Of all the attractions of San Mateo county perhaps the foremost is its excellent trout streams are easily accessible. Many of these streams are classics with the angling fraternity; trout fishing. Miles and miles of it is only necessary to mention the Purissima, an Gregorio, Pescadero, Butano, or any of the other well-known streams to the clan to start the ball a-rolling or more particularly the reel a-spinning; and stories are told of the wonderful creels of fish that have been taken.

The streams of San Mateo county have been stocked by the Fish and Game Commission with thousands of lively fingerlings.. A total of 1,213,000 have been planted during the last four years. In normal years the streams are stocked also by trout from the ocean that spawn naturally, so that, though the streams are heavily fished, there should be an abundance for everyone.

The ocean shore of San Mateo county is to many the point of greatest attraction. At low tide scores of residents and visitors from San Francisco find their way to the rocky reefs where the clam, mussel and abalone grow. During the seasons when the smelt are spawning they run close to shore and are then taken by the sackful. Fresh smelt are deemed by many superior to trout. Salt water eel are also abundant along the rocky shore. The crabs of the San Mateo beaches unsurpassed in flavor and are found in enormous quantities.

In addition to the planting of thousands of fish in the county, the Fish and Game Commission has maintained a constant patrol to guard against game and fish law violations. During the past four years $10,596 was expended for patrol service, 231 arrests were made, and a total of $4,120 collected in fines. The amount realized from hunting and angling licenses approximates $5,955. The expenditures of the Commission on fish planting and patrol service is, therefore, greatly in excess of the money derived from the county, but the fact must of course be taken into consideration that money collected for licenses in San Francisco and other large cities is used in the fields and streams where the hunters from these points find their sport.

TOWN TRUSTEES DISCUSS DRAINAGE

Storm Water Control a Problem Not Yet Solved or Possible This Season Perhaps

Monday evening Trustee Tuchsen presented a resolution to the board of town trustees which the adopted rejecting all bids made on culverts for the Highlands drainage system. Consideration of the bids had been laid over from the previous meeting because they were so far above the engineer's estimate who prepared the plans and specifications. The matter had been thoroughly considered as there was no discussion and the vote unanimous. All the trustees were present except Trustee Merrill.

In discussing the drainage plan Trustee Tuchsen later said that the bids were no higher than could be expected from plans which in many ways were far too elaborate and demanded out of stock materials. He expressed the belief that another method would be devised to handle the storm waters of that section, but not for this season, as by the time bids were advertised for on another plan yet to be devised, the winter storms would make it practically impossible to complete the work.

Such temporary work as will be necessary will be done to relieve conditions during the storm period. A thorough study of the situation will be made by City Engineer Porter during the coming months and acceptable plans prepared.

George H. Irving addressed the board expressing his interest in the work and his approval of the action of the board. While he regretted the delay and the inconvenience it would cause residents of the Highlands, he felt that the loss in time was not to be considered when the benefit of better plans and less expense to the property owners would result. His interest was such that he instructed the board that the engineering department of the town might draw on the Irving Company to the extent of $500 and more if necessary in making a thorough study of the Highlands drainage. His offer was graciously accepted by Chairman Sampson and other members of the board.

A communication from the Southern Pacific Railway Company was read stating that authorization had been made for the construction of culverts across the right-of-way at East Brewster avenue. It is expected the work will be done at once.

Upon the recommendation of City Electrician Ryan a street light was ordered installed at the corner of Adams street and Vera avenue.

City Marshal Coleman reported that the total receipts of the city for past month amounted to $6,667.53, divided among sources as follows:

Water rates	$1563.05
Water connections	32.00
Liquor licenses	2695.00
Miscellaneous licenses	362.00
Taxes	1543.15
Improvement District 13	96.82
Miscellaneous	5.00

According to the report of City Treasurer F. K. Towne, there is a balance of $2,035.79 in the general fund and $3,089.06 in water fund.

PENINSULA AGENTS STILL SELLING LAND

Something Doing All Along Line Shows Market Holding Up In Creditable Shape

That the imminence of the national election did not upset the local market for real estate is evidenced by the considerable number of sales closed during the past few weeks by the University Realty Company of Palo Alto. Among the transactions are reported the following:

A sale of George A. Pope of 360 acres at La Honda, adjacent to his country estate. The sellers are Kate Dillon Winship and the Casey heirs, who are among the most extensive land holders in California. The tract transferred is a portion of the property commonly known as Railroad Land, and has a high utility value for dairy and stock purposes, in conjunction with the property acquired several years ago by Mr. Pope. The present purchase increases owners estate to considerably over 1000 acres, making one of the largest stock ranches combining high grade residential character upon the peninsula.

For the Spring Valley Water Company to William D. McCann 30 acres upon the Canyada Road in the upper Woodside district. This property is heavily wooded and is sold by the water company because of a change in its plans since the time when it was acquired.

Mr. McCann plans to develop the property into a splendid country place and was attracted to it by its naturally beautiful landscape views.

For the Tacoma Land Company to a client, the Cragwood and Hazelwood properties at La Honda comprising about 80 acres lying on both sides of the San Gregorio creek. The purchaser plans to develop the property in two subdivisions which should have a ready market as both will front on the new highway.

For Charles Threadgall to Lionel T. Lenox the south half of lot 3 of the Dixon tract. This property adjoins that purchased several years ago by Mr. Lenox through the local company and materially increases his holdings.

In University Park for Edward F. Fitzpatrick to Willia H. Rich several lots.

In Palo Alto among othter sales a lot upon Channing Avenue for Francena M. Eaton to a client, a residence and several lots upon the easterly corner of Channing avenue and Emerson street for the FederalTelegraph Company to J. Levin, for Nellie M. and W. C. Dibble to Leon J. Pepperberg, a lot on Bryant street near Lincoln avenue and for Timothy Hopkins to Dr. J. B. Thomas a portion of several lots adjoining his home in block 29.

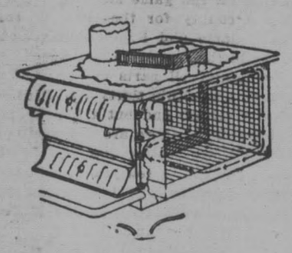
Follow the Arrows



The first thing that anybody wants to find out about a range is how the fire heats the oven

Heat, of course, rises upwards—there must be a special construction to force it down the sides and underneath the oven —this is done by means of strips of metal to direct its course

WEDGEWOOD CAST-IRON RANGES have a Double Flue which makes them Perfect Bakers and Fuel Savers

In the drawing you can see how the heat travels—follow the arrows from the firebox over the top of the oven —the heat passes along the whole top —except the part shut off by the damper and the flue strip—this makes all five stove plates hot at once

You can see how the flue strip is placed —it separates the side into two flues and extends part way across under the oven—this forces heat under all the oven before it can start up to the top again

Thus all parts of the oven are heated evenly—it bakes the same on one side as the other, on top and bottom —that is one reason why they are Perfect Bakers

Since the heat is kept inside the range so long, it is nearly all used —therefore it takes less fuel to make the oven hot and keep it so —this is one reason they are Fuel Savers

WEDGEWOOD STOVES and RANGES are sold by the most prominent dealers —you can see them at

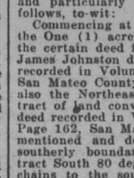
WE CAN CURE YOU



The average life of a Chinese is 60 years. In the United States the average is 46 years. The chief reason for this is the wonderful healing power of the Chinese curative herbs, used in China for more than 4000 years.

We import these herbs, more than 3000 in number, and as graduates of the Canton Medical College and the Medical College of Pekin and as Chinese physicians of many years of experience know just how this treatment should be given.

Don't give up hope until you have seen us. Write for information or call. Consultation free.
